Celebrating the Session Participants with Enhanced Dental Teaching Skills

The Institute for Teaching and Learning (ITL) is an annual 4-day onsite program for dental educators to help participants achieve better student outcomes by refining their teaching skills and enhancing the quality of their interactions with students in the classroom and the clinic.

This year's session, held August 25-28, 2025 in Chapel Hill, attracted an audience of new and current dental educators from 33 institutions.

ITL provided hours of intensive, immediately applicable learning for dental, dental hygiene, and dental assisting professionals at all levels, including early-career faculty, private practitioners transitioning into education, and experienced faculty looking to sharpen their teaching skills. Attendees also received complimentary access to the Fundamentals of Clinical Education (FCE), an online, asynchronous program to equip new dental educators with the right tools to succeed and provide 8.5 ADA-CERP CE credits.

The 4-day 2025 ITL program featured these topics among others:

- | | | | |
|---|---|--|--|
| • Self-discovery as a foundation for effective teaching | • Case-based learning and curriculum integration | • Effective feedback strategies for student learning | • Technology-enhanced educational activities |
| • Educational philosophy with purpose and intention | • Scholarship alignment with educational research advancement | • Relationship building and communication | • Adaptive and resilient teaching practices |
| | | • Transformative power of mentorship | |

Impact & Outcomes

95%

of participants gave ITL's clinical teaching scenarios top ratings for immediate applicability—demonstrating the program's practical, action-oriented approach.

As a junior faculty member, this course was incredibly helpful in providing tools to be successful in both the didactic and clinical spaces. I have a renewed confidence and practical recommendations. I've found a new network of colleagues and action items that can be easily implemented. This course exceeded my expectations, and I highly recommend it to all!
